STORE CLASSIFICATION & COHORTS

Q1. How do I know which cohort my store belongs to?

Each store is classified based on its occasion and size: Wedding / Hybrid–Formal / Casual, and further into single- or multi-floor formats and size (above or below 1500 sq ft). Refer to the matrix shared by RVM.

Q2. Can a store belong to two cohorts (e.g., Hybrid + Casual)?

No. Each store has one primary occasion cohort determined by sales mix and layout. Secondary zones can reflect other categories but should follow the core cohort principles.

Q3. How often will cohort classification be reviewed?

Once every season or during major range refresh (typically quarterly).

ENSEMBLE WALL

Q1. If my store has limited walls, can I skip the Ensemble wall?

No. At least one Ensemble wall is mandatory for every store.

Q2. How many hung styles are allowed?

- Stores <1500 sq ft → 2 hung styles per wall.
- Stores >1500 sq ft → 3 hung styles per wall.

Q3. What's the ideal rotation frequency?

Change every fortnight using: 50 % bestsellers + 30 % campaign articles + 20 % slow movers.

Q4. Can I use black/white/off-white shirts or red ties?

No, they distract from the hero product. Avoid completely.

Q5. Can socks or combo boxes be skipped?

No. Roll socks into shoes and always display combo/tie boxes to showcase full offering.

MAINLINE SHIRTS WALL

Q1. Can we keep some styles in back stock if there's less space?

No, all styles must be visible. If space is tight:

- Stack shirts with no front hang (priority 1).
- Limit white shirts to three options on display (priority 2).

Q2. Should we highlight mandarin collars here?

Only if the style is a store bestseller. Otherwise, use lifestyle walls.

Q3. Are ties mandatory on front-hang shirts?

No. Ties are for suits or mannequins only. Tie/combo boxes can go on the top shelf.

DENIM WALL

Q1. Can we hang denim shirts instead of jackets?

No. Denim jackets are mandatory. If unavailable, hang denims showing fits.

Q2. Can we create an ensemble on denim wall?

No, denim wall must remain a pure category wall.

Q3. Are fit tags compulsory?

Yes. Fit tags must be used for both hung and stacked denims.

Q4. Where do shoes go?

On the base podium, never beneath jackets or inside the wall.

SUITS & BLAZERS

Q1. Can we keep cut sizes in back store?

No. Display all styles on the floor—hang cut sizes behind frontals or on U-bars below eye level. If there is space crunch, you can double the SKU on hanger.

Q2. Can we layer suits with T-shirts or casual shirts?

Yes, but avoid using ties with printed shirts, T-shirts, or tuxedos.

Q3. Do all frontals need pocket squares?

Yes, every suit on frontal display must include one to complete the look.

ROUND TABLES

Q1. What should we display on casual doors' tables?

Polos only. Priorities style wise display.

Q2. What about hybrid/wedding doors?

Front – wedding shirts; Back – business shirts. Bust form styled with blazer + accessories + shoes + belts.

Q3. How many pieces to stack?

6 pcs for casual tables; 3 pcs for formal tables.

NESTING TABLES

Q1. Which table gets first priority?

Khaki table, irrespective of cohort. Denims come second.

Q2. How many khakis to show on top table?

10 pcs if two NTs are joined, or 5 pcs for single NT.

Follow half-fold on top, zip-fold on bottom.

Q3. When should winter wear tables be used?

During Q3–Q4. If limited knitwear is available, pair denims and shoes to make a full ensemble.

Q4. How do we use NT for formal edits?

If space allows 4+ NTs, dedicate one for Luxe/Unwrinkle collection with accessories + shoes and a bust ensemble.

DLT GONDOLA & ACCESSORIES

Q1. Which sizes to priorities?

Running sizes first; stack 30, 40 & 42 on the last MS wall row where gondola is reduced.

Q2. Are size rail riders and fit charts mandatory?

Yes, for easy identification and better customer guidance.

EOD.
